

3-M's of INDUCTIVE BIBLE STUDY

Meaning...

M...

Using the Bible as the primary source of study---focus on the Scripture first before going to outside sources for understanding; seeing for oneself what the Bible says before getting someone else's interpretation.

There is only one interpretation (God-intended meaning) for any given Scripture but many applications!

Always begin with prayer and pray throughout the process of study!

Method...

COMPONENTS

Observation asks what does the text say?

This causes us to slow down!!!

Interpretation asks what does the text mean by what it says?

Sometimes to discover what something means you must first find out what it does not mean.

Application asks how does the meaning apply to my life?

This could be in belief or behavior.

Observation Tools

Done both for the overview of the book as well as for each chapter

- The 5 W's and H questions---read the text purposefully by asking these questions of the text as you read
- Mark key words and people
- Make lists of what you learned from marking
- Mark contrasts
- Mark comparisons
- Mark conclusions
- Mark geographical locations
- Mark expressions of time

Interpretation Tools

Interpretation happens while doing observation and is not a separate step in the study process.

Careful observation will lead to accurate interpretation!

Establishing context through careful observation will ensure that you do not misinterpret a verse or passage by interpreting it out of its context!

Context Rules in interpretation!!

What is context?

that which goes with the text or the environment/setting in which something is found whether immediate passage, book or of the whole Bible.

Cross References

Scripture always interprets Scripture!

Cross references aid in interpretation as God rarely gives us all the information about a subject, doctrine, person or event in just one location.

These provide additional insight and meaning as well as context to the text you are studying..

Word Studies

The study of words in the original languages of the OT (Hebrew & Aramaic) and NT (Greek). This gives us an even better understanding of the text by understanding what the author intended. Once we get the original meaning we plug it back into the text.

Application

The goal of all Bible study!

Because the Bible is a book of transformation not information.

This is living out what you have clearly seen and understood from God's Word because the goal is to know God resulting in a changed life. Sometimes application is changing your belief and sometimes it is changing your behavior to line up with what God's Word says.

Read devotionally.
